

Volunteer with the Talking News

Sandwell Talking News (STN) is an audio newspaper produced locally to bring news and information to people with visual impairments and their supporters.

Right now the newspaper is only available online via SVI's website. But that's set to change. We have had funding from Community First Panels and the West Bromwich Community Chest Fund to run a pilot project so we can get the news out on USB sticks to more people in parts of Sandwell.

We need your help

We always welcome volunteers to read for us. Now we also want people who may be able to spare the time to do duplication and dispatch work for our postal service, and to get involved in other tasks to keep the paper running.

If you have some time to offer please phone SVI on 0121 525 4810. Or email us at sandwelltn@gmail.com
